

Unseeing World

Support Me :- Click Here

This is a topic I've been thinking about writing. Sometimes things insist whether you believe it or not and we find yourself disappointed until we accomplish those things .So let's get started . The title I gave this Blog to "Unseeing World" . Because we don't actually see what is in front of us. Instead what is being displayed to us. If i talk about this topic so one thing that bumps into this topic which is changing the World from past few years ..... CAMERA . I was clicking my picture in my phone as I turned my camera. Then it displayed some pimples which were on my face but as I used some function then those wrinkles disappeared so we are not getting the real thing .I got happy for a few minutes. Then I thought that this is how the world is representing itself and being duped by us . In this world No Matter How smart you are , whatever you've done .But if you don't know how to represent yourself in this world. Then you would haven't no longer What you had. Have you ever thought there are lots of great things which seem to be great so what is the reason they are not popular and they can perform much better than popular things? So where they stuck . I think you got .I don't want to write things over and over. So the camera plays an important role in this to represent yourself . Nobody is smart in this world except the camera from my perspective. I don't know your views. But if you are really smart then you don't need any Camera. Please show yourself because you'll find a bunch of things inside you that you're not familiar with. The essence of this world is that it believes solely on Representation. I hope you find it like previous blogs.